

2004 Cliff Valley Way NE
Atlanta Georgia 30329

Nancy McGarrah, Ph.D.

Dr. McGarrah received a B.A. in English and drama from Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia, a master's in human resource management from Pepperdine University, and a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Emory University.

She has been a licensed psychologist in Georgia since 1984 and in practice with Barrie Alexander, Ph.D., in Cliff Valley Psychologists since 1985. She works with children and their families, including evaluation, therapy, and court testimony. Her areas of specialization are child trauma and forensic psychology.

She is a fellow of the Georgia Psychological Association (GPA) and has served as president and chaired the Ethics and Children's Legal and Legislative Issues committees. She is also a fellow of the American Psychological Association (APA) and served on its Ethics Committee, including serving as chair from 2009 to 2010.

Dr. McGarrah received the Karl Heiser Presidential Award from APA in 2000 for Advocacy on Behalf of Professional Psychology and the Power of Prevention Award in 2007 from Prevent Child Abuse Georgia.

She is the Georgia representative to the APA Council of Representatives (2013-2016). She serves on several boards of community organizations, including the Methodist Children's Home and Visions Anew.

Dr. McGarrah speaks to numerous groups regarding abuse, trauma, divorce, child and family topics, media, and ethics. She has been an adjunct professor at Emory University and is a guest lecturer at Emory Law School and Emory School of Medicine.